AMERICAN "KILLER" OUTWITS POLICE IN OHIO GUN BATTLE

TERMS FOR UNITY

SIR HERBERT SAMUEL'S HINT TO LABOURITES

No Liberal Support For Reckless Spending.

WOULD CO-OPERATE ON LAND POLICY REFORM

LONDON, YESTERDAY.
THE LIBERAL PARTY'S TERMS FOR A UNITED FRONT WITH THE LABOUR PARTY WERE LAID DOWN BY SIR HERBERT SAMUEL,
THE LIBERAL LEADER, IN A SPEECH AT THE LIBERAL DEMONSTRATION AT BOURNEMOUTH TO-DAY.

He said they were prepared to co-operate with anyone who would join in resisting the attacks on freedom and policies dangerous to peace, and who would support a progressive policy of reform in relation to unemployment, land and the standard of living.

Sir Herbert Samuel, however, was not prepared to agree to the destruction of private enterprise, personal initiative and the transfer of industry, commerce and finance to political management.

Also, he would not acquiesce reckless public expenditure.
The task of the Liberal Party,
he said, was to rebuild a powerful united party, treating personal questions with the com-tempt they deserved. — Reuter.

NO POSSIBILITY OF ALLIANCE.

Labour Leader Scoffs Suggestion.

LONDON, YESTERDAY.
Cold water has been thrown on the idea of a Liberal-Labour alliance, by the Labour leader,
Mr. George Lansbury, in a statement to Reuter.

He said that, while in the present
House of Commons the Labour Party was glad to receive the support of the Tories or the Liberals in its fight against reaction, it had not the slightest intention of receding from its position as a Socialist Party, and there could be no sort of alliance between them. — Reuter.

ROYAL DUTCH OIL CO. APPEAL.

Payment Of Interest In Gold Disputed.

JUDGMENT TO BE FOUGHT.

Amsterdam, Yesterday.
The Committee of the Amsterdam Stockbrokers Association has announced that the Royal Dutch Oil Company and its subsidiaries have notified an appeal against the decision of the Hague Court in regard to the Association's claim that the Company should pay interest in gold.
The appeal will be heard on May 28. — Reuter.

The Hague Supreme Court on February 16, granted the claim in the case against the Royal Dutch Companies, but rejected the claim in respect of the Bataafsche Company whose bonds are payable in New York, where payment on the gold basis is now not permissible.

IN CHINA FOR 50 YEARS

LONDON, YESTERDAY.
The Reverend Francis John
Griffith, who spent all his active life in China where he had been stationed since 1884, died suddenly at Bristol, to-day. — Reuter.

SIR HERBERT SAMUEL

WAR CLOUDS IN MONGOLIA

Soviet Training For Civil Strife

CONSCRIPTION INTRODUCED

Peking, Yesterday.

Outer Mongolia is practically organized for a war footing, according to Mr. Pai Yun-ti, a Mongolian member of the Central Kuomintang, in an interview with the "Peking Chronicle," upon his return from the inauguration of the Mongol Council at Pailinmiao.

Mr. Pai Yun-ti declared that the Mongols, with the assistance of the Soviet, are training an efficient army and mechanising their forces to resist the invasion of Outer Mongolia. Mr. Pai instanced the intensive output of the Urga Arsenal, the massing of Mongol troops, the building of a net work of motor roads and the introduction of conscription.

He added that Outer Mongolia now possesses an air fleet of 300 fighting planes.
— Reuter.

LONDON SILVER MARKET.

Prices Advance.

LONDON, YESTERDAY.

London silver prices to-day were up 1/4 for "spot" and 3/16 for forward, as follows:—

|         |          |        |
|---------|----------|--------|
| Spot    | May 4    | May 5  |
| Forward | 18-5/8   | 18-3/4 |
|         | 18-11/16 | 18-7/8 |

The London on New York cross rate at closing to-day was $U.S.36.11-5/8, as compared with $U.S.36.12 at closing yesterday.
— Our Own Correspondent.

DUNLOP'S HUGE PROFITS

$2,346,664 On Last Year's Workings.

LONDON, TO-DAY.

The Dunlop Rubber Company's profits for 1933 totalled
$2,346,664, an increase of $652,789 on 1932.

A dividend on ordinary shares of 9 per cent is to be made, while the carry over is increased by $136,207 to $578,415.

The total assets of the company are $30,000,000. — Reuter.

DILLINGER'S DARING BANK HOLD-UP

GIRL EMPLOYEE USED AS SHIELD

FIVE WOUNDED IN RAID

New York, Yesterday.

An audacious daylight bank robbery, believed to have been engineered and led by John Dil-linger, the elusive desperado who ranks as America's Public Enemy No. 1, was successfully carried out at Fostoria, Ohio, to-day.

After the coup, the bandits escaped with $18,000 worth of cash bonds, under a hail of bullets from police guns. Five people were wounded during the raid.

Two men, with machine-guns concealed by coats, carried out the actual robbery. They entered the bank and held up the staff, forcing them to hand over the bonds. Before leaving the building, they compelled a girl book-keeper and the assistant cashier to walk in front of them as a shield against police bullets.

REPORTED ON WAY TO BELFAST.

Travelling By C.P.S. Liner?

CHICAGO DRIVE STARTED

LONDON, YESTERDAY.
A new Dillinger sensation has been created by the Belfast report that the local police have been instructed to search the Canadian Pacific liner, Duchess of York, when she arrives at Belfast at midnight, from Canada, as it is possible that Dillinger may be aboard her.

It appears that the United States Department of Justice asked the C.P.S. officials at Halifax, from where the liner left on Monday to investigate the report that Dillinger was on the liner.

The possibility, however, is believed to be remote.

Meanwhile, a big new drive for Dillinger has been started at Chicago, in which of the crack shots of the police are participating. — Reuter.

DILLINGER NOT ON LINER

LONDON, LATER.
On the arrival of the Duchess of York at Greenock, the Captain told Reuter that the ship had been searched and no trace of Dillinger had been found. — Reuter.

INDIA'S CO-ORDINATE POLICY

Marketing Officers Appointed.

RESEARCH IN RICE

Simla, Yesterday.
Far-reaching proposals, initiating a co-ordinated policy for the economic betterment of the country have been issued by the Government of India.

Steps already decided include the appointment of central and provincial marketing officers, the inauguration of provincial marketing surveys and the establishment of a special committee for staple crops.

Other proposals include the coordination of agricultural production throughout India, especially in rice, wheat and oil-seeds, the establishment of a central research institute for the sugar industry and the resumption of the appointment of Trade Commissioners abroad.

APARTMENT FIRED

He was received with a burst of machine-gun fire.

The trio then set fire to the apartment, rushed to a garage in the rear of the apartment, and crowded into a waiting motor-car.

Police opened fire on the car, and were answered by further bursts of machine-gun fire as the car drove off speedily.

Here is the record of Dillinger since he first broke into the news
as a "killer".

September 26, 1933. — Organized the escape of 11 convicts from Michigan City Gaol. These convicts helped to form his gang.

SHERIFF KILLED

In the following October he was himself freed from Lima Gaol by three of his lieutenants, who killed the sheriff in the operation.

January 25, 1934. — Captured after identification by a fireman in Tucson, Arizona. The fireman recognised him as a man who had rewarded him for saving luggage
during the fire.

March 3. — Escaped from the gaol in Crown Point (Indiana).

CHANGE IN U.S. PRICE RAISING PLAN

Stimulation Of Trade Activity.

ADMINISTRATION PATIENT

SPECIAL TO SUNDAY HERALD.

(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received May 5, 9.23 a.m.)

Washington, Yesterday.

It is authoritatively learned that the United States Administration intends to make an effort to raise commodity prices indirectly through the stimulation of business activity rather than by experimentation in currency depreciation or price fixing.

It is believed that President Roosevelt still hopes that prices will rise to 1926 levels.

Progress is slower than expected resulting from the supplementing of price lifting plans by direct industrial aid.

Administration officials are still observing commodity movements, but they appear less impatient with the relatively slow advancement than they did recently.

LESSENING DEBT LOAD

An example is seen in the Agricultural Adjustment Administration official who was described as "not unduly alarmed over the decline in wheat."

It is understood that the Administration is anxious to raise prices in order that the country's debt load may be lessened, and frozen assets released.

COMMODITY BOOST

A shift in the Administration's programme displayed in a number of developments.

For example, it is learned that the stabilization fund will be used to the value of various foreign non-gold currencies in an effort to promote American sales in those countries and also to tend to boost domestic commodity prices. — U. P.

MILLER RETAINS WORLD TITLE.

Knocks Out Dazzo In Five Rounds.

FEATHERWEIGHT BOXING

St. Louis, Yesterday.

Freddie Miller retained his world featherweight boxing championship to-day when he knocked out Paul Dazzo, of Chicago, in the fifth round of their scheduled 15 rounds bout.
— Reuter.

Last year Miller outpointed Ted Paul over 10 rounds in Chicago, beat Arizmandi on points in Los Angeles, secured the decision over Dado in Los Angeles, and knocked out Israel in four rounds at Seattle.
He won his title early this year to succeed Battalino after the title had been in abeyance since 1931.

U.S. BOMBING AND ATTACKING PLANES TO COST $7,500,000

Tenders Invited For Start Of Three-Year Programme

Washington, To-day.
As part of the three-year aviation programme, the United States War Office announces that it will shortly invite tenders for 80 bombing planes and 80 attacking planes, at a cost of U.S.$7, 500,000.

Further tenders will be invited
before July. — Reuter.

Fred Perry beat Jack Crawford yesterday at Bournemouth. Here he is seen about to kill an overhead ball against Henri Cochet in last year's Challenge Round of the Davis Cup.

PERRY DEFEATS CRAWFORD.

Straight Sets Win At Bournemouth.

LONDON, YESTERDAY.
Fred Perry retained his title of British Hard Courts lawn tennis champion to-day when he beat Jack Crawford, the Australian
Davis Cup captain, by 6-0, 7-5, 6-1 in the final round at Bournmouth. — Reuter.

Perry beat Crawford in the American National Championship at Brooklyn last July to spoil the Aus-tralian's attempt to set an unparalleled record — winning the world's four major titles, Wimbledon, American, French and Australian, in the same season. He later repeated his success in the Australian and Victoria Championships.
(Earlier cable on Page 18.)

PADGHAM WINS GOLF PRIZE

Record Low Aggregate At Southport.

COTTON BEATEN BY TWO STROKES FOR £1,500

LONDON, YESTERDAY.
Alfred Padgham, the Sandridge
Park professional, won the Dunlop-Southport professional golf tournament, valued at £1,600 to-day with an aggregate score of 279 for the 72 holes. Henry Cotton was second with 281.

Padgham's aggregate score is one of the lowest on record over a first-class course.
His rounds were 70 + 70 +
68 + 71 = 279.

Cotton, who is now coach to the Waterloo Club, Brussels, had rounds of 78 + 66 + 69 + 68 =
281. — Reuter.

HUNSLET WIN RUGBY LEAGUE CUP.

Widnes Defeated At Wembley.

LONDON, YESTERDAY.
By a margin of 11 points to 5 Hunslet beat Widnes in the Rugby League Cup Final at Wembley Stadium to-day. —
Reuter.

This is the second time Hunslet have won the Cup, the previous occasion being in 1908. Last year they were eliminated in the Second Round by St. Helens, who defeated them by 14 points to 8.

Huddersfield won the Cup last year, defeating Warrington by 21 points to 17.

BIDDING HER TIME

INOPPORTUNE MOMENT FOR JAPAN'S PLANS

FRENCH JOURNAL'S BITTER MISTRUST.

NEW AGREEMENTS URGED

Paris, Yesterday.

The publicist,
"Pertinax" in "l'Echo
de Paris," stresses the desirability of an agreement between Japan and the other signatories to the Nine Power Treaty, which will take account of things as they really are. If an agreement is reached there will be repercussions that will only be limited
by the strategic weakness of the British and American navies in the Far East, and when the limitation of naval armaments is discussed next year,
the Washington and London Treaties will collapse.

"l'Populaire," commenting on the official Japanese explanations, declares that nobody will be deceived by the language which Japan habitually uses
when she judges
that the time is not yet ripe to put her Imperialist plans into execution.

The breathing space which followed that declaration will not be long. Japan
does not renounce her goal, but only awaits a favourable opportunity to reach it, the journal declares. — Reuter.

REASSURANCE IN U.S. TRADE CIRCLES

SPECIAL TO SUNDAY HERALD.

(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received May 6, 8.54 a.m.)

New York, Yesterday.
Messrs. Dun and Bradstreet state that the tenor of the trade reports continues favourable.

It is pointed out that some clarification of the legislation situation has resulted in more reassurance. — United Press,

Hand Embroidery For Blouses

An Almost Lost Art Revived.

HAND APPLIQUE WORK AS MODERN EQUIVALENT

EVERY now and then one of the Paris creators gets ambitious and shows one or two models trimmed with hand-embroidery or its modern equivalent, hand applique work, like the blouse shown at Worth's collection.

It was in bright coral crepe marocain, and, marching right round the top, about chest level and including the arms in its march, were large dark blue velvet flowers whipped on to the blouse by hand. The combination of coral and dark blue was to begin with, exciting, and the hand-appliqued flowers gave the final touch of prettiness.

Another touch of the almost lost art of hand-embroidery noted recently was on the bodice of a blouse at the side top closing. A hand worked plaque of gold thread embroidery out of whose centre sprouted, of all things, a gold tassel. The blouse was rose-grey and the combination was a trifle courageous, but anyway lovely.

What Paris Is Wearing

Large Variety Of Fabrics Displayed.

COARSE COTTON CARPETS

Paris. SOME of the Paris houses which specialise in town and country out-door clothes have already begun to produce the new models of their summer collections. Of course these only give indications for sports dresses and not for afternoon or evening frocks, but their general line is the same, if not so accentuated. The sensation is in the variety of fabrics. Flax, which was the revelation a few months ago, has already changed its look and quality and is now stiffer and more loosely woven and has become uncrushable. The thin linen of last year is hardly to be seen.

Soft Effect. A noticeable feature is also the use of cotton in all sorts of new fabrics. Many of these are coarsely woven with threads which are large and look as if they have not been twisted before being used. This gives an effect of softness and also of comfort, for they look cool as well as thick, and they have that uncrushable quality which seems to prevail among materials this year.

A very interesting rug carpet coat of rough peasant weaving with strips of coarse coloured cotton introduced among plain natural threads. Another fabric which combines all the characteristics which I have just mentioned is cotton bouclé looking like very fine velvet sponge cloth, which makes smart summer frocks and will wash perfectly.

Evening Blouses Again

Edwardian Styles Return.

THE evening blouse attributed to Edwardian days and the early part of 1900 are in the forefront of new styles, and wisdom suggests one plain skirt in satin or that crepe to go with several blouses chanel institutes two types, one made on a shirt-bodice line in golden lame with little basque. This can be worn for bridge, dinner, and theatre parties. The other is more décolleté and fashioned on a vestee waistcoat line, showing a bare back. It is likewise made in gold lame and placed on the body with a narrow length extension for back waistline button fastening. Two scarf lengths faced with red velvet are carried from the shoulders to

Two-Way Movements

Forward Sweeps Have Their Sponsors.

BOTH back movements and forward sweeps have their sponsors this Spring. The Germaine Bally black tulle end-of-day frock, has been chosen because it cleverly combines both. It has the full gathered back section below a slightly low waistline, so prevalent at the moment, underlined by rows of pinked ruchings and the oval bodice trim on the side of back emphasis; while the ruche-edged hem mounting toward the front and the front trimming of the corsage suggest an advancing motion.

criss-cross and encircle the nape, then brought to the front and slipped through two centre-front neck-line slottings. These fastenings are sufficient to keep the bias-cut garment in place.

The Ever-Useful Blouse

Style, Length, Material Never Out Of Mode.

BLOUSES go on for ever! It just seems as though no one style or length or material is ever out of mode in a blouse. One tucks in a blouse, or leaves it waistline length, or one makes a seeming jacket effect of it, all as one pleases. And as to materials, or sleeve lengths, you make your choice on your shirt and accompanying jacket. Some lend themselves to short sleeves.

An Original Blouse.

One delightful blouse has a yoke of lame and sleeve insets, and a soft over-the-lame-neck effect. Note that this is an over-blouse, and surprisingly long, too. Then there is a short little blouse with seemingly simple ruffles at the neck and sleeves, but the front cut of this blouse is anything but simple. It is tucked in.

Flower And Sash Revival

FLOWERS-and-sashes-are-being much encouraged by the dress designers, not only in the case of wedding regalia but in ordinary dress as well.

Many of the newest afternoon and evening dresses show a little twist or drape of velvet at the waist-line. This does not match the gown, but is in sharp contrast, and is relied on largely to carry out the ensemble note.

Waist belts, for instance, are matched up in gloves, linings of capes, bracelets and flowers.

White Violets.

Flowers have returned a little unexpectedly but after all, these decorations belong very much to the periods to which our designers are now turning, for their picturesque touches.

One dress creator, whose clients are always attired with distinction, seems to have a soft spot in his heart for the bunch of violets, preferably white.

CHINESE SPRINT SWIMMER FALLS ILL ON EVE OF DEPARTURE

CHAN CHUNG-HING MAY GO LATER

ATHLETES ARRIVING FROM NORTH TO-DAY

LEAVE FOR MANILA TO-NIGHT

A LAST-MINUTE withdrawal from China's Far Eastern Olympic team, was announced late last night by Mr. Ko Sik-wai, general secretary of the Hong Kong Chinese Amateur Athletic Federation. Chan Chun-hing, one of China's best sprint swimmers, has suddenly been taken ill, and is unlikely to make the trip.

Chan is a native of Fukien, but is now with the Canton Air Force. He was champion swimmer for Hong Kong and Canton for the 1930 and 1932 seasons. He represented China in two Far Eastern Olympiads—in 1927 and 1930. Last year at the Chinese National Meeting in Nanking, he won the 50 and 100 metres and was second in the back-stroke events to secure the National title.

Mr. Ko told the "Sunday Herald" last night that Chan's vacancy is not likely to be filled, and said that if he recovers in a couple of days he may catch the next boat for Manila.

Wong Sau-shan (Sun Yat Sen University),
Chan Chun-hing (Canton Air Force),
Chan Ki-tung (Canton Police Force),
Mr. Yu Ki-cheong, supported by Mr. Kwok Nga-hung will manage the athletes from Canton.

Abe Liu, the veteran catcher and coach, will coach the Chinese team and accompany the players to Manila.

Liu has represented China as a player, manager and coach in the past four Olympic Games. Since 1923 he has rendered invaluable service to the country in this particular branch of sport. In the 1927 and 1930 Games he was responsible for getting the Honolulu baseballers to compete.

INTER-VARSITY ATHLETICS.

Fourth Triangular Series On May 19.

The University of Hong Kong and the Sun Yat Sen and Lingnan Universities, of Canton, will participate in the Fourth South China Inter-Varsity Sports meeting to be held on Saturday and Sunday, May 19 and 20, at the South China Athletic Association ground, Caroline Hill, starting at 1:30 p.m.

The following are the open events:—

800 meters open to Colony, 1000 meters Relay open to Colony, 400 meters Relay open to Schoolboys, 400 meters Relay open to Schoolgirls.

There is every possibility that the Japanese swimmers will stage local exhibitions on May 22 and 23, after their return from Manila, at the Y.M.C.A. and the Victoria Recreation Club, respectively.

The occasion will afford our local champions of the opportunity of competing against the world's leading aquatic stars.

The tennis team will play in exhibition game on the K.C.C. courts on May 24.

Owing to the possibility of casualties in Manila, the football team could not definitely contract to play a match on their return here, but if possible, an exhibition will be given.

Subject to a suitable ground being available, the Japanese Olympic authorities have agreed to compete in track and field events on the team's return to the Colony.

CHINESE SOCCER XI DEFEATED

SECOND HALF RALLY UNAVAILING

CUP TIE SPIRIT PREVAILS IN GOVERNOR'S CUP GAME

SCENES REMINISCENT OF AN ENGLISH CUP FINAL WERE WITNESSED ON THE CLUB GROUND YESTERDAY AFTERNOON, WHEN THE HONG KONG F.A. AFTER A GREAT FIGHT, NECESSITATING EXTRA TIME, DEFEATED THE CHINESE OLYMPIC TEAM BY 3 GOALS TO 3.

At 3 o'clock the ground was filled to capacity, hundreds being turned away. Belated ticket holders were forced to accommodate themselves wherever space offered on the cinder track in front of the stands, and on the grass patch behind the goal. Several people attempted to climb the walls, while the hillsides all round were thronged with people. An aeroplane circled the field continuously throughout the game.

The game produced the best football witnessed in the Colony this season, both teams being well matched and in fine condition. The Chinese were very tricky and exceptionally fast, while the Europeans were steadier and played to a well schemed plan.

After being two goals down at the interval, the Chinese worked hard and played extraordinarily well to force the playing of extra time by scoring three goals during the second half. The three goals came from the very able foot of Lee Wai-tong.

The F.A. team did not play as originally notified, Cord substituting for Rodger in goal. Although he played very well, and saved some very fine shots, it is very doubtful whether the Chinese would have scored their three had Rodger been defending.

Pote-Hunt did not play, his place being taken by Robertson of the Club who played a very sound game. His constructive work as a half-back was excellent, while his "third back" play left little to be desired.

The weak link in a very good F.A. forward line was Ernie Strange. He was decidedly off form. Mullane very wisely moved Strange to the outside-right position for the extra time, the period that decided the match, and brought the Gosanos together, Gordie going to the centre with "A. V." at inside-right.

The backs were very good, there being little chafe between either Mullane or Morrison for individual play. Their display yesterday left no doubt that, as a pair, they are second to none in the Colony.

Podmore played his usual good game and fully proved his claim to being the finest centre-half in local football.

Jones Does Well

Jones, usually seen at forward, was quite at home at left-half, and the selectors must have banished any doubts they might have had on witnessing his excellent work. The youngest member of the forward line, Blake, the deadly Kowloon marksman, was very fast and played well, though he only found the net once. In company with Ridley he made a very fine left wing.

The Chinese, led by Lee Wai-tong, fielded a formidable eleven. Wong Wing in goal made very few mistakes. The backs, Lau Mau and Li Tai-sang, proved a strong defence. "Darkie" Chen, of Shanghai, at outside left, played fine football and was very unlucky in not netting. His passes to the forwards were perfectly judged, and he was largely instrumental in the attainment of the three goals credited to the Chinese.

Ip Pak-wa's play left nothing to be desired, while of Lee Wai-tong, one can only say that he is undoubtedly the best forward in local soccer. He was over deadly with his shooting range, but Podmore and Morrison were never far away from him and he was not often in the danger zone.

The Hon. Sir Thomas Southern, C.M.G., K.B.E., and Lady Southern, equalised. Many well schemed attacks followed after three o'clock, but both teams failed to produce a goal, and the whistle for the end of the match was blown at three goals each.

Club House.

TAY Kwee-liang, a versatile forward player, who is being "capped" for the first time in the Chinese Olympic soccer team.

The Hong Kong side almost scored in the first minutes of the game. Robbing a Chinese forward at the kick-off, Podmore transferred to Ridley who sent a fine pass out to Blake, who was very unlucky with a shot that was cleared by Lau Mau on the goal line. From the clear-ance Fung King-cheung took the ball up the centre before passing to Lee Wai-tong who neatly transferred to Ip Pak-wa for that player to send in a terrific shot which Cord saved in marvellous manner.

Taking the play back to the Chinese area, the H.K. team were awarded a free kick a few yards outside the penalty area for a foul by Ip Pak-wa. Podmore took the kick but shot wide.

Ip Pak-wa then had hard luck with a fine shot which landed in Cord's very safe hands.

At the other end Podmore flashed out a long pass to Ridley who enabled Blake to steady himself before grazing the bar with a great shot from the wing.

The first goal came after some fifteen minutes play. A. V. Gosano centred perfectly from near the corner flag, and STRANGE, almost sitting on the goal-line, could not fail to score.

Gosano Scores

From a clearance by Podmore A. V. Gosano centred to B. Gosano who gave Wong no chance with a very hard drive.

Several good shots by both teams failed to materialise and the score at half-time remained two goals to nil in favour of the F.A. On the resumption the Chinese became more aggressive, making very determined efforts to score. From a free kick against Podmore, for handling, the ball was passed to Lee Wai-tong who showed no hesitation, scoring with a shot which left Cord standing.

Fifteen minutes from time Lee Wai-tong equalised with another fine shot.

Blake, however, placed the F.A. ahead with a fine shot after heading the ball past Li Tai-sang. Ten minutes before time Lee Wai-tong received a pass from Ip Pak-wa to C.M.G., K.B.E., and Lady Southern, equalised. Many well schemed attacks followed after three o'clock, but both teams failed to produce a goal, and the whistle for the end of the match was blown at three goals each.

BIG WIN

FOOTBALLERS SURPRISE

THE CIVIL SERVICE PROVIDED THE SENSATION IN THE PREMIER BOWLS LEAGUE YESTERDAY WHEN THEY BEAT THE RECREIO BY NO FEWER THAN 30 SHOTS AT THE VALLEY. THIS WAS, HOWEVER, A MILD SURPRISE AS COMPARED TO THE INDIANS' TRIUMPH OVER CRAIGENGOWER, LAST YEAR'S JUNIOR CHAMPIONS, AT THE VALLEY.

The Football Club surprised the K.C.C. to record their first win in the League — they are newcomers this season — and the C.S.C.C. juniors completed the "double" against the Reclero.

Craigengower "B," who are making their debut in the senior division, continued in winning vein, beating the Police by two shots, while their "A" team had 33 shots to spare at Kowloon Docks — the biggest win of the season to date.

WOMAN'S LIFE IN GOLDFIELDS

Haphazard and Precarious As Existence Of Gold

Corrugated Iron Hut For Home

(By JOAN FIRMIN)

I LIVE, eat, drink, sleep in an atmosphere of gold. I am the only woman on a small gold-mining camp in a remote district of Rhodesia. It sounds thrilling, even dangerous, certainly exciting. Maybe; but I have to wear green sunglasses a great deal, not rose-coloured spectacles, and that may explain much.

I have been in this camp only a month, newly married and new to this life, but already I am learning a great deal about gold; how it is produced, how capricious is its nature.

I am learning about mills (which crush the gold-bearing rock), about the tables (which collect the gold), about scrapings, smeltings, weights, tonnages, tailings, slimes, dumps, and all the other technicalities and "jargon" of gold mining.

I have discovered too that gold is undoubtedly feminine in gender, for surely nothing that was masculine would be so tantalising in behaviour, so small in stature yet so large in value, so unswerving in its demand for service from men, and, oh, so exasperating to women!

Because so much of this world's machinery is motivated by gold most women's lives are affected by it, although usually indirectly. My life is enslaved by this wanton in her raw, untutored state. Any day she may flash her final battery of rich smiles to the miners here, and then vanish. Then we have to pack up.

That is the way with gold in these small mines, of which hundreds are being worked in Rhodesia just now. The gold appears in patches in the earth, in veins in the rock, in other haphazard ways.

There are very few big reefs in Rhodesia, and consequently unlike the district round Johannesburg, there are few big mines.

But there are numbers of small mines, and, with the price of gold so high, hundreds of men are feverishly working, scratching at the soil like hungry hens in a yard. And so the domestic lives of their womenfolk are as haphazard and as precarious as the existence of the gold itself.

My present home is a corrugated iron hut with a thatched roof and a floor of ant-heap mould. All day and all night there is the continuous bang, bang of the five-stamp mill crushing the rock. When the mill "hangs up," either for scrapings or through engine trouble, there is an eerie silence which strains my ears and nerves far more than the throbbing noise of the stamps.

I awaken shortly after sun-up and crawl out of bed from under my mosquito net. Outside the hut I survey a green, fresh-looking world lying in a veil of faint blue mist and shot with the golden shafts of the early rising sun. This is the best time of the twenty-four hours, and the only moment when I feel the slightest bit poetical.

I call for my bath, and the cook and small house boy (piccanin) bring in a small round tin bath and two petrol tins of water. I go forth to inspect the kitchen—a circular row of veld sticks surmounted by a tippy looking thatched roof and circumscribing one minute stove, an improvised table, and some shelves.

In the hut the piccanin is busy sprinkling from a bowl a mixture of water and disinfectant on the floor; he then sweeps up with a little bundle of twigs.

Kettles of boiling water are poured on armies of ants, and a long stick is brought into action to deal with a hornets' nest in the roof. All tins, jars, and bottles are inspected for unwanted insects.

My husband brings up two men from a neighbouring mine for breakfast. They discuss the price of gold last month, their mines, reefs, scrapings, weights, tonnage, and the probable price of gold next month. It reminds me vividly of a holiday in Ireland where nothing but horses and prices and jockeys was discussed. Gold and horses—both are a gamble all right.

Afterwards I go out to sit in my "summer house," where it is slightly cooler. I put on my hat and sunglasses, take a sunshade and a bottle of ammonia with me, and settle in a camp chair.

I glance at the newspapers from home and read, especially enviously, the advertisements of fur coats while I dab my face with my handkerchief. Two insects have already found their target and I anoint myself with ammonia.

I pick up a new novel and almost the first words I read are: "The snow that had fallen all day gave back a glimmering greyness to a sky like lead." I gaze up at the brassy, blue sky overhead through the intense light of African sunshine.

I hear the cries of the "boys" as they rattle the buckets, as they wind the windlasses. I hear the steady stamping of the mill. I think of the bars of gold being shipped home, of the bullion going to America, of the Bank of England, of Wall-street and Roosevelt, and of jewellers.

Gold, gold, gold—the world is bewitched by the stuff. And my right hand plucking at my left twirls a ring round and round. That gives me a little feeling of comfort.

"Beaten you there, you modern Circe," I murmur, as I gaze with a sigh of satisfaction at my slender band of platinum.

But the golden sun shines relentlessly on.

PROBLEMS OF ROAD BUILDING

Mr. Lissaman's Address At University.

ILLUSTRATIONS OF LOCAL IMPROVEMENTS

An interesting lecture on the subject of road construction, and a brief synopsis of the work that had been done on Colony thoroughfares, was given by Mr. A. E. Lissaman, F.S.I., to the members of the University Engineering Society, on Friday.

In addition to mentioning matters concerning Colony roads, Mr. Lissaman dealt in a general manner with the engineering features of road construction.

In introducing the speaker, Professor Middleton Smith, President of the Society, said that they were very grateful to those local engineers who were good enough to come to the University to give them the benefit of their practical experience.

Mr. Lissaman, he said, has been concerned with the practical work in road construction in Hong Kong, and anyone who had witnessed the very great improvement that has been made in recent years in local roads, and who knew the peculiar difficulties arising out of the modern traffic conditions would appreciate the work done by the local Public Works Department.

In China many thousands of miles of roads were being constructed to-day. In the provinces of Kwangtung and Kwangsi many thousands of miles of roads had been built during the last five years and engineering graduates of the University of Hong Kong had taken a very prominent part in that work.

Professor Middleton Smith said that he felt sure that many of the undergraduates present would also be engaged on similar work in future and would learn a great deal from the experiences of Mr. Lissaman and his engineering colleagues in the Hong Kong Public Works Department.

Mr. Lissaman's Address.

The following is a brief abstract of the lecture, which was profusely illustrated with many original diagrams.

In the course of his address Mr. Lissaman said: "I hope during the course of this talk, to show that even a simple looking thoroughfare of to-day has needed much thought and experience, and many experiments to bring it to its present state of perfection—a state demanded by present day mechanical transport."

"Before giving any illustrations of actual local improvements, I should like to make a few general remarks:—I think it can safely be said that any real advances in local motor transport have taken place within the last 12 or 14 years. Prior to this, the only wheeled traffic worth considering (with the exception of a few cars) amounted to richshas and hand trucks, and the latter although heavy, were very slow moving and did little damage except on the upper surface.

"Recent years have, however, brought a great change in traffic throughout the Colony. Motor buses, lorries and cars are now numerous and are subjecting many of our roads to something entirely different from what was anticipated when they were first constructed. The gradients, widths, and alignment in many cases bear out this fact, and we are now faced with the task of improving and strengthening to the best advantage some miles of thoroughfare in order that the requirements of modern transport may be met.

Local Conditions.

"Conditions here do not lend themselves to the construction of roads of a type to be seen in rolling country, so that whatever ideals we may have, we are bound to give way when encountering some of the precipitous slopes of the local hills. Yet in spite of this, demands for better wider and stronger thoroughfares are steadily being met by regrading, widening, re-shaping and re-surfacing lots of roads hitherto unsuitable for modern traffic.

"I have some photographs and sketches of one or two typical examples of local road improvements:—

"(1) Garden Road to May Road. Leads from top of Garden Road to May Road Tram Station and beyond, and consists chiefly of widening a previous footpath.

100,000 HEADACHES RELIEVED IN ONE DAY

EIGHTY MILLION PEOPLE in Britain, France and Belgium. Untold millions in India, Malaya and South Africa—here are but a few of the countries where ASPRO is successful with the millions on account of its pain relieving qualities. To say that ASPRO relieves 100,000 depressing headaches every day throughout the world would be more than a conservative estimate. The reason of ASPRO preference for headaches is because it banishes aches and pain quickly—there are no dangerous after-effects—ASPRO does not harm the heart and it conforms to the standard of purity laid down by the British Pharmacopoeia the guiding authority of the Medical Profession

'ASPRO'

Does Not Harm the Heart

5 MINUTES

FOR RELIEF WITH 'ASPRO'

There is nothing indefinite about 'ASPRO'. Its service is QUICK—safe, effective and definite. It gives you relief in 5 to 10 minutes and then goes on to dispel or dissolve the cause of the pain, allowing Nature to effect its own cure. Furthermore, you get no harmful after-effects from 'ASPRO', as it is speedily eliminated from the system a few hours after being taken. It neither dopes, deadens nor drugs.

'ASPRO' BRINGS SWEET SLEEP TO THE SLEEPLESS

There are many thousands of people who now have sweet peaceful sleep, who hitherto hardly knew the meaning of a period of restfulness. 'ASPRO' has brought about the transformation by its sweet soothing influence on the nerves, and breaking up of local feverish conditions. Two tablets before retiring is the usual dose.

First Aid for Mothers

Most children are subject to Toothache, Earache, Colds and sudden bursts of Temperature. 'ASPRO' can be safely given to children so affected. It will soothe the pain away and quickly reduce Temperature.

HOW TO GIVE 'ASPRO' TO CHILDREN

Two simple methods of giving 'ASPRO' to the kiddies are: (a) with a little milk or (b) break the tablet up and administer in a teaspoonful of jam. The dosage is: Children 3 to 6 years, 1/4 tablet; 6 to 14 years, 1 tablet; 14 to 16 years 1 1/2 tablets. 'ASPRO' like any other medicine should not be given to babies under 3 years of age without medical advice.

HONG KONG, SUNDAY, MAY 6, 1934.

Our Films.

THE current number of "The Rock" returns to the charge against our local films, contending that "modern youth is being warped by the influence of the cinema." "The surrender on the part of parents and public authorities to the dictatorship of the money-making film magnates is, alas, a very patent sign of the lack of public and private morality." How far does the indictment deserve a true bill? We have no intention of going over the well trodden ground of the controversy about the amount of influence which an entertainment has on children. Charles Lamb's famous defence of the Restoration Drama, that the audience merely looked on the plot of a comedy as a kind of embroidery on life which had no connection with real people has never been widely accepted, and is only true of scenes widely removed from daily experience. But our contemporary is on firm ground when it states that "the onus is primarily on the parents." The Wild West film of adventure is not one whit more gory than the adventure stories that the parents were allowed to revel in when they were young themselves, without the slightest inclination to settle down in Bias Bay. Gangster heroes are in quite a different class. It is hardly to be supposed that the parents do not know, after years of film-going, what sort of plot to expect. "Many residing in Hong Kong," we are told, "are doing so after a trip which took them half round the civilised world. We venture to say that they must admit that Hong Kong's cinema programmes touch as low a level as those of any European city which they may have visited." One might go somewhat further than that and say that they will probably have seen the same films. It would not be possible for any local censor, however strict, to secure an entirely different class of programme. The civilised world is portioned out into "circuits" and the standard of Hong Kong has to be shared with Shanghai, Singapore, Manila and various other centres, while duplicates are providing entertainment simultaneously at opposite ends of the earth. The critic may exclaim "so much the worse." But no other system would recoup the producer for the enormous initial outlay required to keep up a high level of technique. Even if the colossal totals of expense should be taken with a pinch of salt, it is quite true that only a wealthy syndicate can tackle a spectacular film, and it would be a waste of effort to plan a modest domestic drama without twenty thousand pounds in the bank. In Japan, where audiences are still in the naive stage, the studios are run with the utmost economy. The proportion of film shown to the public is about fifty per cent. of the total used, instead of five or ten per cent.; silent films are the rule; and the actors are a stock company who turn out a new film every week. It can be safely said that these methods are adapted only to the task of meeting a local demand, not too exacting about either plot or presentation. European audiences on the contrary are getting more fastidious every year, and the old style of vacuous exhibition of endless chorus girls with no attraction but their shapeliness has ceased to keep the box office busy. It is certainly a sign of the times that the most popular film of the year has been "Little Women." The big gate money no longer goes to any of the much boomed pretty ladies, but to men who know how to give a genuine characterisation like Charles Laughton or Lionel Barrymore; and the favourite actress is the admirable Marie Dressler. Why is it that to our list we must in fairness add the name of one whose methods are her very antithesis in style and subject? Simply because the lady in question is undoubtedly clever, writes her own scenarios, and never allows the action to flag. The cinema is like any other form of entertainment in having an art of its own, the great secret of which is that it must appeal not so much to the ear as to the eye. If there is nothing to keep the eye busy and interested the spectator is too bored even to take in the points of what may be a clever dialogue that would keep him laughing in the theatre. On the screen the words must be an explanation and commentary on the action. When there is an established tradition of cinema technique it will no doubt be possible to produce more films at a moderate cost that will pay their way in spite of appealing only to specialised or select audiences. In the meantime it is a great mistake to minimise the service performed by dozens of quite ordinary films in providing some good entertainment for people who would otherwise find time heavy on their hands.

By Students.

130 ON OUTING ON FERRY BOAT

The members of the Hong Kong University Arts Association gave a very enjoyable farewell launch picnic yesterday afternoon to Professor R. K. M. Simpson, M.C., M.A., and Mrs. Simpson, prior to their departure on home leave on Friday, May 18.

About 130 members and friends were present, including Professor Mackenzie M.Sc., Ph.D., Professor R. Robertson, M.A., and Mrs. Robertson, M.A., Mr. G. B. Birch, M.A., Mr. R. A. Campbell, M.A., President of the Arts Association, Mr. A. B. Reynolds, B.A., vice-President, Mr. Ken Yuet-keung, Chairman, and Mr. Lo Kwai-seong, hon. secretary.

The party left Blake Pier at 2.30 p.m. on board a Yumait Ferry launch, for Clearwater Bay, where they enjoyed an extensive programme of aquatic and other sports. The party returned to Hong Kong, at 6 p.m. Professor Simpson is professor of English, and Dean of the Arts Faculty at the Hong Kong University, and is also hon. secretary and treasurer of the local branch of the English Association.

He is spending his leave in England and Scotland, and is travelling home via Canada on the Empress of Russia.

While in England, Professor Simpson hopes to make a study of the latest developments in phonetics.

He will return to Hong Kong in the middle of December, and resume his duties after the Christmas vacation.

TENSION IN SHANGHAI STILL REMAINS

JAPANESE "BIG PUSH"
EXPECTED

INSURANCE AGAINST WAR RISK

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Shanghai, April 30.

ALL'S well that ends well—but it is much too soon to talk about the end of the "incident" which started in Tokyo on April 17 and was closed 11 days later in the same city by the Foreign Minister declaring that the statement which led to such commotion all around the world was "officially non-existent."

There is, of course, considerable relief at the comparatively happy ending of the "hands off China" incident, but even though the diplomatic world agrees to regard the matter as "officially non-existent," the fact remains that Sino-Japanese relations are still far too tense to be pleasant. Nothing has happened to remove the fears which first followed Japan's declaration of policy nearly a fortnight ago in regard to China.

Agents of foreign insurance companies here have been receiving inquiries from various points in North China relating to cover against war-risk, and considerable business of this character is said to have been booked recently in Shanghai. Knowing what happened here in January, 1932, and not knowing what may happen very soon in areas which are notoriously much less secure to-day than Shanghai seemed to be two years ago, property-owners in the North prefer to feel safe rather than sorry, and have taken steps to protect themselves against the risk of losses arising from a state of war—formally declared or otherwise. "Big Push" Soon.

Whether conditions are really serious enough to warrant emergency measures of this character is a matter of opinion. Some think that within a week or so all the present hubbub will subside, and things will become comparatively normal again, while others are just as confident—or even more convinced—that another Japanese "big push" is due very soon, with results the gravity of which will depend mainly upon the nature of the resistance offered by the Chinese.

Conversations during the past week with various Chinese businessmen of some standing in this city resulted in the expression of some interesting views of the situation. More than one held the opinion that China might be forced to make the best terms possible.

Cpl. Albert E. V. Winter, the observer who was injured when the R.A.F. Fairey 3F plane crashed over the side of H.M.S. Eagle on Thursday morning, is making good progress, and is expected to be out of hospital in a few days' time, according to a message from the R. A. F. Base at Kai Tak, yesterday afternoon.

Flying Officer I. C. Rowe and Cpl. Winter were in the machine when making a landing on the deck of H.M.S. Eagle, it was caught by a gust of wind and swept overboard. Flying Officer Rowe escaped without injuries, but Cpl. Winter damaged his shoulder, and was removed to hospital.

CARRYING FORGED BANKNOTES.

Chinese Arrested In Connaught Road.

A formal remand of 48 hours was granted, on the application of Inspector Murphy, in the case of Wu Sam, a 30-year-old unemployed Chinese, who was charged before Mr. E. W. Hamilton, at the Central Magistracy, yesterday morning, for being in possession of 17 forged $10 banknotes of the Chartered Bank.

Accused was arrested at the Tung On Wharf, Connaught Road Central, last Thursday.

with Japan rather than waste men and money on a struggle which would be hopeless from the start. "When a man holds a gun 'at your head, it is foolish to refuse to sign on the dotted line," said one Chinese, "and it is possible we could get better terms from our 'protectors' by signing before they are provoked into a bad temper by a show of resistance." Others were of opinion that to make any sort of terms with Japan in regard to Manchuria would be like signing one's own death-warrant, and to yield to pressure now would be simply to invite repetition of the process as soon as Japan felt the urge to extend her influence over another slice of China's territory.

Japan's Reply To Tariffs?

Another opinion was that Japan's recent and now repudiated warning to the world to keep out of Chinese affairs was by way of reply to the economic blockade already being enforced in many parts of the world—by means of increased duties and quotas—against what is described as "the menace of Japanese goods." This theory assumes that Japan fully realised that the reaction to her "hands off China" policy would be exceedingly hostile, and that when the excitement cools down she will suggest making a deal with the Western Powers, whereby she will offer to relieve them of further anxiety about the "menace" of Japanese competition in their markets if they will agree to let Japan exploit the Chinese field.

All these are simply personal opinions, indicating various points of view taken by men who have no "inside knowledge" of political or international affairs, but who look at the situation from what they consider to be a practical and business-like point of view.

Foreign Assistance.

It is significant that not only the Chinese with whom the war has talked during the past night expressed any expectation of foreign assistance being given—China in her present difficulties with Japan regarding the Manchurian issue, but the Chinese Press takes a wider and longer view of the possibilities of the situation, and references to a other World War in the making are frequent, with China instead of France as the central battle field.

It is not suggested that large scale hostilities are likely to start immediately, or even soon, by failure to reach a satisfactory settlement of British, American and Japanese naval ratios at the conference in 1936 is regarded by some Chinese writers as marking the beginning of the final phase before the catastrophe comes. China will have no choice but to take sides when the struggle starts, and in the opinion of Chinese editorial writers, of the evils the lesser will be to throw her lot with the Western Allies against the Eastern Empire.

Meanwhile, China must stick to her settled policy of national reconstruction, hoping for the best but preparing for the worst.

Japan's False Claim.

But whether the Chinese Government can adhere to its set policy of national reconstruction is not at all certain, in spite of the fact that Japan has described recent declaration of policy as "officially non-existent." actual declaration may be so guarded, but what of the policy? Earlier explanations made Tokyo stated that Japan neither interfere with anybody's territorial rights or to ignore China's sovereign rights. All that Japan was to do is to prevent anything being done—by accident or design—calculated to disturb that peace of the Far East of which she claimed to be the sole guardian. To make sure that China's plans for economic and industrial development are likely to lead to war, Japan suggested that it would be better everybody to leave everything her judgment, as Japan is the only Power which knows how to handle China.

HONG KONG AND THE NEW TERRITORIES. — No. 103.

Flowering Shrubs.

On the banks above and below Wong-nel-chong Road Bauhinia glauca, a climbing species native to the Colony, is in full flower. The flowers are white but the red stamens make the flowers look pink from a distance. Above and below Stubbs Road, there are a number of trees in blossom, the branches are terminated by spreading panicles of erect catkin-like inflorescence white or pale green in colour. We have not examined these closely but they must belong either to a species of sweet-chestnut or oak both of which are in the same family. Still higher up Stubbs Road one of the Colony's most attractive flowering trees is coming into bloom, this is Reevesia thymoides which bears numerous bunches of pure white sweet smelling flowers. Victoria Peak is a well known locality for this tree.

The sweet smelling pure white flowers of Gardenia florida may now be found on hillside throughout the Colony. The shrub grows to a height of several feet and when covered with flowers is very attractive. The double Gardenia, the bridegroom's flower, has been derived from the species which is wild in South China. The flowers usually possess six petals but there may be as many as nine, the diameter of the flower is about 2½ inches.

The Nesting Season.

We were fortunate enough to find a Drong's nest on 28th April in the Lam Tsin Valley. It was placed in a fork near the end of a horizontal branch at the top of a small tree. The nest was built almost entirely of fine grasses and was so thin that we could see through it—it contained no eggs. This is a characteristic position for a Drong's nest and they are in consequence very difficult to examine. On May 2nd we showed a Crested Bulbul's nest containing 4 eggs the fourth having laid on that date. It was built hanging wire basket containing enlivened ferns in an open verandah. Here again the nest was almost entirely constructed of fine grasses, the eggs were typical bulbul eggs, pale mauve with darker mauve speckles and blotches especially at the broader end, two were measured and found to be 22 and 16½ mm.

It may be admitted that Japan could be better able to understand Chinese ways and ambitions than any Western nation. "Territorial propinquity" does not always mean that neighbouring nations can appreciate and sympathise with each other's hopes and desires, but the Chinese and Japanese have so much in common that they should be able to get on together—in fact, there will be no real peace in the Far East until they are as close friends as they are neighbours.

Unfortunately, the history of Sino-Japanese relations—especially during the last 30 years—affords no evidence whatever that Japan is the only Power which "knows how to handle China." On the contrary, it affords overwhelming proof that Japan has been either able or unwilling to appreciate Chinese sentiment, and has incurred more open or concealed hostility from the Chinese than any of the Western nations who are not supposed to have the remotest idea how to handle China.

Friendship For Peace.

If it is Japan's methods since September, 1931, of handling the Chinese which are intended to be taken as representing the only proper and effective policy to be followed in dealing with this people—in whom national ideals are just beginning to take definite and practical shape, and who are just setting their feet on the long, hard road which Japan herself has trod—then there is a heavy load of trouble ahead. So long as China and Japan are not good friends there can be no real peace in Asia,

The Cuckoos.

There are at least four species of cuckoo to be seen or heard in the Colony now. The Crow Pheasant is a ground-cuckoo and lays its eggs in its own nest, the call is an oft repeated kuo with a slight inflection on the o. The Chinese Kool is a kind of Cuckoo, the female lays her eggs in the nests of the Black-necked Mynah. The call of the male bird is pe-peo-o, with the emphasis on the second syllable, repeated about six times in an ascending scale. The Indian Cuckoo arrived in the Colony about the second week in April. Its oft repeated four note call, kwel-kwel-kwo-kwo, whistled day and night has resulted in it being called the Brain-fever bird. The female lays her eggs in nests of the Chinese Black Drongo. The Burmese Plaintive Cuckoo also arrived in the Colony about the second week in April. This bird is known as the Rain-bird. The call is a whistle of about eight notes in a descending scale of semi-tones. The first three notes can be represented as crochets the four or five that follow as quavers. The female lays her eggs in nests of the Chinese Tailor-bird.

SAFETY-ZONES IN DES VOEUX ROAD

New-Traffic Experiment Next To Market.

Considerable interest has been aroused by the two experimental traffic islands which have been erected in Des Voeux Road Central, opposite the Central Market, to enable tram-car passengers to board trams without danger.

These islands have been popularised by the Chinese community, and they are crowded daily with home-going marketers.

The islands are constructed of wood, and at present are entirely an experimental innovation. If they prove to be a success they will be replaced with concrete islands, similar to the "Safety Zones" of large European cities.

According to the police the corner opposite the Central Market is particularly dangerous, and it is on this account that the experimental islands have been erected there. If these prove successful islands are likely to be erected in other dangerous spots.

ART EXHIBITION AT KOMOR'S.

Closing On Tuesday.

Some very fine works of art have been on view at the showrooms of Messrs. Komor and Komor during the past week.

At the present exhibition there are some particularly fine examples of the work of Terachi, mostly dealing with the Far East. The colouring of his painting "Nanking" (No. 37) is exquisite, while "Peking" (No. 50) is an outstanding example of landscape art.

The exhibition, which is for one week only, opened on Tuesday last. Entrance is free, and there is no obligation to buy, so all for whom works of art have an appeal should take the opportunity of visiting Messrs. Komor and Komor's showrooms before Tuesday. The pictures are on view from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

and there can be no friendship if Japan's "mild fist" methods of dealing with China are to be regarded as the only effective measures to be followed, and Japan is allowed to continue that policy on the strength of her own claim that she is the only Power which "knows how to handle China."

If Japan really had the unique and expert knowledge of Chinese psychology that she claims to have, she would not to-day have caused to complain of being misunderstood and misrepresented. Chinese and Japanese statesmen must realise that they have to live together as neighbours—just as France and Germany are doomed to live next door to one another, whether they like it or not.

ST. JOHN BRIGADE COLLECTION

Annual Flag Selling Yields $6,000.

MR. KWOK'S $1,000 DONATION

As the result of a donation of $1,000 from Mr. Kwok Hin-wang, the annual flag day of the St. John Ambulance Brigade, held yesterday, yielded a total about $400 in excess of last year's collection.

Up to 6.30 p.m. yesterday, $6,000 had been acknowledged, $1,840.87 of which came from Kowloon. A number of collection boxes have still to be returned from the New Territories.

Miss Dorothy Witchell, with $107.10, headed the list of flag sellers.

A collection made at a tiffin party at the Hong Kong Club resulted in $26 being added to the sum.

The Brigade acknowledged the following individual donations:—

Mr. Ho Kom-tong, $200; Hon. Mr. and Mrs. E. Taylor, $100; Mr. Fung Kong-ung, $50; Tiffin party at the H.K. Club, $20; Mr. Lo Yuk-lun, $10.

Collected by Mr. Kwok Hin-wang: Mr. Kwok Hin-wang, $1,000; Shun Yick & Co., $75; W. J. Keswick, $40; C. G. Mackie, $20; Gilman & Co., Ltd., $10; Messrs. A. D. A. McGregor, $10; F. C. Jenkin, $10; S. T. Williamson, $10; D. O. Russell, $10; G. A. Harriman, $10; C. Little, $10; G. C. N. Tinson, $10; Chan Shing-woon, $5; R. E. Lind-sell, $5; Dr. S. S. Strahan, $5; W. Kay, $5; A. O. Brann, $5; P. Hodgson, $5; P. Todd, $5; F. D. D'Almada e Castro Jr., $5; Dr. M. Nicholson, $5; Messrs. A. Mackintosh, $5; Leung Ying-kun, $5; F. X., $5; Dr. H. D. Two students of the University of Washington are to arrive in the Colony on Friday, May 11 on a Goodwill Tour under the auspices of the World Council of Youth. They have visited various centres in the North, where they have met student groups for debates and informal lectures.

KNITTING COMPANY BANKRUPTCY

Insolvent Man's Three Concubines.

OFFICIAL RECEIVER'S COMMENT

The public examination of Tsang Hok-ting, owner of the Lion and Son Knitting Company, otherwise known as the Lai On Knitting Company, was concluded, and the firm adjudicated bankrupt, by the Chief Justice, Mr. Justice A. D. A. McGregor, at the Supreme Court yesterday morning.

Mr. J. J. Hayden, the Official Receiver, conducted the examination of Tsang, who stated that he had run the business at an average annual profit of $2,000 for nine years up to 1930. His assets at the end of 1930 were between $37,000 and $38,000, the value of his stock about $5,000, the value of his machinery about $31,000, and book debts about $1,000.

Since 1930 his losses had been $6,000 in 1931, almost $10,000 in 1932, and over $8,000 in 1933.

$16,000 Borrowed.

He had borrowed $16,000 on promissory notes in 1932 in order to carry on the business, his floating capital having been invested in manufacturing stocks.

He attributed his failure to the fact that his creditors had pressed him, and, not having any available cash, he had had to realise on his stocks at a loss.

Official Receiver: "Are you married?"

Tsang: "I have one wife and three concubines."

Official Receiver: "You have done rather well for an insolvent man!"

His Lordship: "Oh! That's nothing!"

Tsang stated that he had no property, except an interest in a family house, which could not be sold, and that since the closing of the knitting factory he had earned nothing.

No creditors being present, or represented, the examination was closed.

CHEUNG ON HONG BANKRUPTCY

Creditors Withdraw Petition.

$9,000 ALREADY PAID

The adjourned hearing of a petition and notice of opposition, against the Cheung On Hong, insolvent, was concluded before the Chief Justice, Mr. Justice A. D. A. McGregor, at the Supreme Court, yesterday morning. His Lordship granting leave for the withdrawal of the petition.

Mr. F. H. Loseby appeared for Lo Chan-fan, the manager and alleged partner of the firm, and Mr. D. H. Evans represented the petitioning creditor.

Mr. Loseby produced receipts from creditors, and a list of creditors. He said that trade creditors had received 30 per cent, and that other creditors had had to get what they could.

Mr. Evans stated that judgment against the Cheung On Hong had been obtained for $10,142, with costs of another $800, and that he had received $9,000 of this about 90 per cent.

His Lordship said that he was prepared to take the list of creditors supplied by Mr. Loseby. "The firm is still there to be sued by unsatisfied creditors, and, on the facts before me now, I propose to grant leave to withdraw this petition," he said.

MEDICINE DEALER LOSES BOOKS.

Mow Sang Tong In Bankruptcy.

The public examination of Chin Yat-ting, proprietor of the Mow Sang Tong, adjourned at the last hearing on April 7, was concluded before the Chief Justice, Mr. Justice A. D. A. McGregor, at the Supreme Court yesterday morning.

Mr. F. H. Loseby, on behalf of the creditors, cross-examined Chin, who stated that he was a dealer in Chinese medicine. His books, he said, had been lost. When the business was sold by the Official Receiver, the purchaser had taken over the books, and had taken them away.

Mr. Loseby: "Do you mean to say that the Official Receiver sold

Taking Care Of The Fragments

Nothing In Life Is Really Useless

Ideal For Which Man Must Strive

(By the Rev. J. N. Lewis Bryan.)

(This is another of the series of articles written exclusively for the "Sunday Herald" by the local Army chaplain.)

ONE of the greatest practical conceptions that this age has begun to learn is the value of taking care of the fragments, and in the sphere of industry and science the principle has been applied with marvellous results.

One of the outstanding features of modern commercial methods is summed up in the magic word "By-products," in fact it is like a romance to read what is now done with such things as coal-tar, cotton waste, old rags, and scrap-iron—all worthless until men saw that it was a very paying concern to look after the bits that were left over.

Go into any steel and iron works, and look at the billets before they are pushed into the furnaces. They are composed of bits of old chains, odds and ends of scrap of all sorts, up to a certain weight, but after passing through the mills become high tension steel.

It does not finish there. The waste gases, that used in the olden times to pass out through the chimney, and be lost in the open air, are now trapped, and their chemical properties used again in other ways.

One of the greatest inventions on modern railroads, the "Robinson Super-Heater," is a device to re-use over and over again the steam from the boilers, that formerly was only used once and then escaped. In these hard economic times no industry can afford to neglect any thing as being waste and without value.

But it is not only in the business and industrial world that we have learned that nothing is really useless, it applies equally to the economy of God. We have that fact brought clearly to our notice on the occasion when Christ performed one of His outstanding miracles—the feeding of the five thousand. When the meal was over He gave a most unexpected order: "Gather up the fragments that remain that nothing be lost." One might have thought that He who could create food for such a crowd would not need to be concerned with what was left over. That is just the point. It is this open-handed Christ who wants nothing lost even where there is plenty.

The Social Application
The same applies to our social system. We have our slag heaps of waste, and our dumps of refuse. What God does in Nature He also does in grace. In that great book of Harold Begbie's "Broken Earth-cumvare" we can read how the Salvation Army, with infinite love, and patience that was divine gathered the fragments together. Fragments that seemed of no use to anyone, the sotsam and jetsam of human society, and turned them into decent, useful, and honoured citizens.

Problem Of Labour
Many of these men were not to blame for their condition and position, they were the product of the industrial machine, men whose trades had become obsolete through modern conditions, who had sunk down through no fault of their own originally, or through the drift of labour from the country to the towns and cities. How to utilise them, and turn them into productive sources is the great problem that, so far, has baffled all solution. When we have solved that riddle it will be a greater miracle than the transforming of any other by-product in the world. It may be that there is no universal remedy, that it will ultimately come down to the goodwill, and effort of individuals and small communities to grapple with their own particular cases and circumstances. Whatever the answer may be it is our duty to be as keenly interested in the problem as we are in those which more closely, (and on the surface) affect our pockets.

One thing more. If the ideal towards which men are working be no slagheaps and no waste bins, but everything that has any capacity hammered or rolled into something useful, may not that be God's ideal too—the end towards which He is striving?

That nothing walks with aimless feet,
That not one life shall be destroyed,
Or cast as rubbish to the void,
When God hath made the pile complete.

So that when His Saints have gone singing into light, shall He not pitifully gather up the fragments that remain, and make something even of them.

Sir Henry Pollock Kt. K. C. and Lady Pollock left by the Empress of Canada on home leave on Friday.

Mgr. Zanin, Apostolic Delegate to China, left for Shanghai yesterday morning by the s.s. Conte Verde.

The name of Mr. Ngan Sin-loo, Doctor of Dental Surgery of the University of Southern California, has been added to the dental register.

Miss Hilda Yuen Mo-yin, Bachelor of Medicine and Surgery of the Hong Kong University, has been added to the list of medical practitioners.

The forthcoming wedding of Ng Hong-siu, treasury clerk, of No. 60, South Wall Road, Kowloon City, and Goh Ching-suang, of No. 60, South Wall Road, Kowloon City, is announced.

These books?
Chin: "Yes! I say that the Official Receiver sold the shop, stock, books and everything."

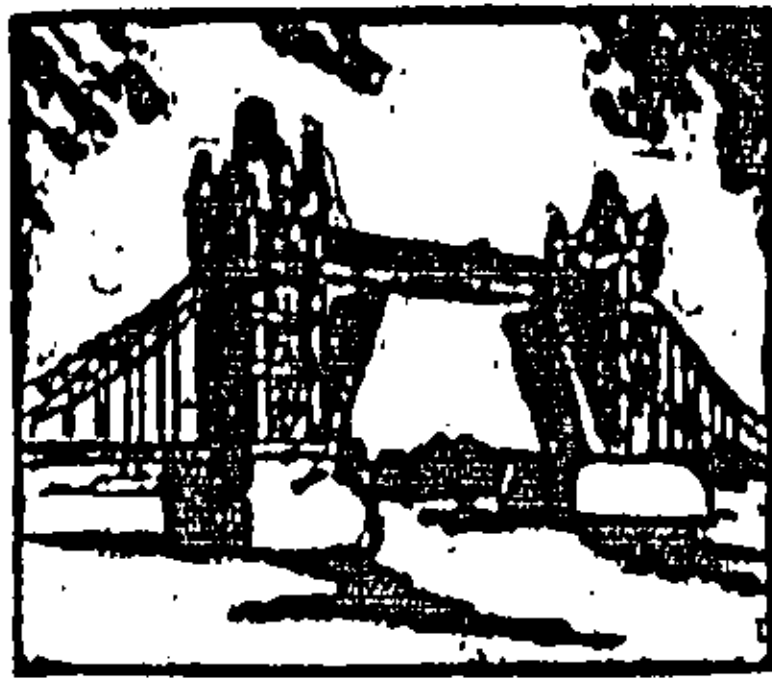

Later Chin said that the current books had not been sold, but were in the hands of the Official Receiver. He also said that, since becoming bankrupt he had no property of any description.

Mr. J. Prior, on behalf of the petitioning creditors, stated that he had no questions to ask, and the public examination was closed.

Misleading Leaflets

The question of tightening up election law has been raised again by Dame Beatrice Lyall's consideration of the Socialist leaflet attacking her record of County Hall attendances.

The law, which in some respects is the same for both Parliamentary and municipal elections, forbids the publishing of "any false statement of fact in relation to the personal character or conduct" of a candidate.

The judges in the past have been reluctant to apply this clause strictly. Three have been only three election petitions in recent years in which the charge of false statement has been raised, and all of them were dismissed.

Sir Wilfrid Lawson's Petition

The most interesting case was at Cuckermouth after the General Election of 1909. The sitting Liberal member, Sir Wilfrid Lawson, lost the seat to Mr. J. S. Randles, a Conservative.

In the course of the campaign one of Mr. Randles's supporters, at a meeting at which he was present, said that "there was not a bigger fool in the House of Commons than Sir Wilfrid, and that when he got up to speak most of the members went out for a drink." This speech was later circulated as a leaflet.

Sir Wilfrid petitioned, but the remark quoted was not held to be "a false statement of facts in relation to his personal character."

Not Batty Langley
Another case occurred in the Attercliffe Division of Sheffield in 1906. The Liberal member, Mr. Batty Langley, issued leaflet on polling day which contained a number of questions, each followed by the remark "Not Batty Langley."

One clause read, "Who embarrassed Sir Joseph Jones on the King's visit last July?—Not Batty Langley." Another asked, "Who hounded Mobson to prison?—Not Batty Langley."

The only affirmative answer was the last: "Who is the friend of the widows?—Batty Langley."

Mr. Wilson, the Conservative candidate, petitioned on this leaflet, but again was unsuccessful, and Mr. Batty Langley held the seat.

Greatest Industrial City

Mr. W. L. Chance, president of the Birmingham Chamber of Commerce, claimed in his speech at the Canadian luncheon recently that Birmingham is "the most important industrial city in the whole Empire." When the statement was greeted with some dissent he added, "There is no question about it."

No statistics are available of the value of goods manufactured in different towns. The numbers of insured workers on the register, however, are a fair guide to the volume of production.

On this basis Birmingham comes third in the list of British cities. Greater London leads easily with 2,399,000 workers, although a large proportion of these are, of course, not factory workers. Glasgow has 409,000, Birmingham 390,000, Manchester 362,000, and Liverpool 333,000.

A reliable authority states that in his opinion the only other city in the Empire which could compete with these figures is Bombay.

Mr. Lloyd George Declines
Mr. Lloyd George is invited to attend the National Liberal Federation's annual conference at Bournemouth in May. He is not going.

It is unlikely that either his son or his daughter will attend. They all have invitations by reason of their being Liberal members of Parliament." The Somonites come under this designation, and are also invited. They also will be missing.

So the field will be clear for the Samuelites to discuss two declarations of policy—both Samuelite. One is the "Liberal address to the nation" issued by Sir Herbert Samuel. The other, which is more detailed, but entirely complementary, has been prepared by the executive of the National Liberal Federation.

In His Head
Mr. Will Thorne is a lightning calculator.

Figures were reeled off in the House of Commons, recently, showing that there has been an increase in the consumption of draught beer by M.P.s of 244½ gallons, and a decrease in the consumption of bottled beer by 486 9-12 dozen bottles.

Mr. Thorne, quick as the proverbial flash, asked if the figures did not show that members were learning common sense by drinking less beer?

How he translated bottles into gallons, or gallons into bottles, with such phenomenal rapidity is unknown. But he was right.

Ghosts of the Abbey

The ghost of Richard II, it is solemnly asserted, has again been seen at Westminster Abbey.

The late Sir Frederick Bridge once told how, when he first became organist there, that hapless monarch was supposed to appear and frighten the choir boys. Sir Frederick himself was sceptical. One feature of this ghost is that it is said to "walk" some distance above the ground.

Of all the Abbey ghosts the most persistent, according to one who has a close connection with the place, is that of Cromwell's associate, Ireton.

London's New Rulers

What are the occupations and professions of the members of the new L.C.C.

Business contributes the biggest group. Include company directors, finance and insurance, stock exchange and accountants, and you have one quarter of the Council to start with.

Next comes the Law with 20 representatives—10 solicitors, 9 barristers and one K.C.

Doctors and trade union officials dead-end for next place with 10 each. Only one other group reaches double figures—"Married women and spinsters," of whom there are eleven.

Twenty-two Women

There are 22 women on the new Council—a record number. Most of the other eleven are entered on the lists as doctors, secretaries, and schoolmistresses. One is a barrister.

Other trade and professions among the members are:

|                    |   |
|--------------------|---|
| Surveyors          | 3 |
| Engineers          | 3 |
| Teachers           | 5 |
| Parsons            | 2 |
| Ex-soldier         | 1 |
| Secretaries        | 4 |
| Architects         | 2 |
| Contractors        | 2 |
| Lino-operators     | 2 |
| Clerks             | 2 |
| Social workers     | 2 |
| Metal Merchant     | 1 |
| Municipal employee | 1 |

Only one claims the title "gentleman."

Mr. Lloyd George

The unanimous demand of the North Wales Liberal Federation that Mr. Lloyd George should assume the leadership of Liberalism in a great campaign throughout the country is being considered in London recently by the Executive of the National Liberal Federation.

Two predictions were made: That the proposal will not be accepted by the Executive; and In the unlikely event of its being accepted Mr. Lloyd George would decline with thanks.

So that in either event Sir Herbert Samuel is safe.

PROBLEMS OF ROAD BUILDING

"Road" is 20 ft. wide supported on retaining walls one side, and in cutting other.

"It is approx. 5,000 ft. in length, 3,600' of which rise 270 ft. Gives average grade of 1 in 13.33 about. Ruling grade is 1 in 10, eased to 1 in 15 on bends.

Surfacing.
4" Tarmac, tarpots, tarpainted and chipped with 3/8" granite chips.

"Harpin bend—outside radius 35'—0" grade 1 in 15.

"(2) Robinson Road.
"From Peak Road to Glenally Nullah. Chiefly widening old road.

Now constructed to a general width of 26 ft. with 2'—0" extra widening on bends. A 6'—0" ft. footway provided leaving 20' and 22 ft. carriage-way. The carriage-way has a cross-fall of 1 in 30, with 10' of super-elevation on bends. Footway is paved with 2½" granolithic paving—fall ¼ to 1 ft. Carriage-way Tarmac 4" thick and tar tops. Granite kerb 12" X 6" and granite sett channels.

"(3) Magazine Gap Road widening for motor traffic.

"(3) Magazine Gap Road.
"Takes off at May Road and leads up to Magazine Gap—chiefly widening a footway. Road has an overall width of 26 ft. widened to 27 ft. on bends—and will have a 5 ft. footway. Road is approx. 3,300 ft. long, rises 380 ft. i.e. an average grade of approx. 1 in 8.70. The max. and min. grades will be 1 in 7.37 and 1 in 11.5 respectively.

Minimum radius of inside curve 56'—0". Super-elevation on bends. Surface tar mac. Concrete kerbs 12" X 8" and concrete channels. Concrete used as plenty of stone on job.

"(4) New Territories.
"Lots of you must have seen what is going on in the New Territories in the way of strengthening the existing surface of the main road—

"Many miles through paddocks which is flooded for best part of the year, and is therefore difficult to keep water out of road foundation.

"Old surface broken up and rolled in new concrete haunches, or margins, to support new surface.
"New surface water-bound macadam 4'—6" thick tar-painted and finished with granite chips or a local gravel.

"Super-elevation on bends, cutting back corners and general re-alignment.

"Surface.
"Apart from the general reconstruction of road lines, a good deal of attention has been given to surfaces, a survey in this respect revealing the use of all up-to-date methods and materials. To quote one or two familiar roads:—

"The motor road to the Peak and Reulse Bay is tarred macadam.

"On the Prays we have granite sets on concrete on the seaward side where loading and unloading of junks take place; on the other side is found asphaltic carpeting on concrete foundations. In Ice House Street are wood blocks on concrete.

"In Nathan Road is re-inforced concrete tarpainted. There is too, a good production of water-bound macadam tarpainted, especially in developing districts, but it is possible that as development ceases these water-bound roads will give way to better class surfacing.

"Where Industry Helps.
"Whilst on about surfaces, it is perhaps as well to remind you that in road construction one is not always able to confine one's labours to the Engineering side of the question, but is often obliged to turn manufacturer as well. This applies in Hong Kong.

"We have in the Colony a quarry where all material and accessories for the road are manufactured, including all grades of crushed stone, tarred macadam, asphaltic carpets, paving slabs for footways and such things as street and traffic name-plates and signs. In this respect, we are not quite so fortunate as some of our brother Engineers, who, by simply writing, can obtain such articles from Contractors who specialise in nothing else."

BROKER'S BAIL ESTREATED
Bail of $400, deposited by Lau Kwan, a Chinese broker, who was arrested for being in possession of non-Government prepared opium on Friday, at No. 203, Wing Lok Street, second floor, was estreated by Mr. Q. A. A. MacFadyen at the Central Police Court yesterday morning, when the defendant failed to appear in court.

National Socialism Analysed

Position Of Women In New State

DR. GOEBBELS' SPEECH

IN the course of an address which Dr. Goebbels, the German Minister for Propaganda, delivered sometime ago before National Socialist women, and in which he described the position of women in the National Socialist State, he cleared away numerous misconceptions concerning this matter that had existed abroad.

The true appreciation of the fundamental idea dominating the Minister's speech can only be acquired if regard is taken to certain post-war developments affecting the position of women, there are few countries where women have been dragged into public life—both on the political and on the economic side—to a larger extent than in Germany.

National Socialism, as the Minister explained, is a profoundly manly movement which clearly recognises that a differentiation must be made between the functions of men and those of women. The domains of politics and of public life must be reserved to men. They demand firmness and a devotion which does not shrink consistency to the last. It was a sign of instinctive weakness when woman persisted in burdening herself with tasks which Nature has never meant her to accomplish, and a sign of intellectual weakness when man tolerated this unhealthy tendency.

Woman's Own Sphere.
National Socialists desire that women should find their way back to their own natural sphere and that they should succeed in mastering its problems completely.

It is by no means intended to oust women from those professions for which they are—and have always—duly qualified. Dr. Goebbels stated. Any intention to the contrary would lead to ruinous consequences. But notwithstanding this, the principle which lays it down that woman's highest vocation is centred around the family and the duties of motherhood must guide all our actions. As the State has formulated this principle, the State must also enable women to live up to it.

At the close of his address the Minister sternly rebuked those persons who demand that the external conduct of a woman should conform to the primitive standards which they have set for themselves.

The tender for the work of erecting a Public Bathing Shed at Repluse Bay, made by Messrs. Choy Sze Koo, has been accepted. It is notified in the current issue of the "Government Gazette."

did a fine thing for the photographer overseas. This sensitive film, because of its double coating and anti-halo backing, is more suitable for bright colourings and vivid skies. It is specially made for tropical climates. Just as easy to use as ordinary film, but so much better.

ALLEGED ASSAULT OF
MRS. POLSON IN COURT

Evidence of the finding of the chopper on the footpath near Stanley Terrace, Quarry Bay, was given by Sergeant Harris at the resumed hearing before Mr. E. W. Hamilton at the Central Magistracy yesterday of the charge against Ho Sam-fai, the compradore's coolie, of causing grievous bodily injury to Mrs. J. C. Polson, on the night of August 2.

The police officer stated that the chopper was found by the Chinese detective with the aid of a torch. It was blood-stained and was lying about 12 paces eastward of a pool of blood on the footpath.

The chopper was wrapped in newspaper and handed to the Quarry Bay Police Station.

The hearing was then adjourned until to-morrow afternoon.

SUTCLIFFE COMMENCES WITH CENTURY

Yorkshire Opening Pair
Pass 200 Mark.

OXFORD'S SUCCESSOR TO THE NAWAB

Surrey Skipper's
6 For 16.

London, Yesterday.

Herbert Sutcliffe, England's opening batsman, has commenced the cricket season in characteristic manner. Yesterday he contributed 152 towards the Yorkshire total of 495 for 8 at Cambridge.

With Percy Holmes an absence this season, Yorkshire will depend on Barber to partner Sutcliffe, and that youthful player fulfilled all the promise he showed last year when he scored 103 yesterday, adding Sutcliffe to add over 200 for the first wicket. It was this partnership that gave the county champions a comfortable win by ten wickets.

Oxford have found a successor to the Nawab of Pataudi. His name is Dasaram. Yesterday he scored 176 against the wiles of Charlie Parker and the other Gloucester bowlers.

E. R. T. Holmes, Surrey's new skipper in succession to D. R. Jardine, opened the season in deadly bowling form, capturing 6 M.C.C. wickets for 16 runs. On his day Holmes is a very fine fast bowler, but he is too frequently erratic. Patsy Henderson, by scoring 81, was the only batsman to face him with any degree of confidence.

Scores as cabled by Reuter were:

At Lord's, Surrey beat the M.C.C. by an innings and 173 runs. M.C.C.: 142 (Hendren 81, E. R. T. Holmes 6 for 16), and 213. Surrey: 558 for 7 dec. (J. C. Squires 110, Barber 176, Hobbs 50, Gregory 99).

At Cambridge, Yorkshire beat Cambridge University by 10 wickets.

Cambridge: 248 and 260. Yorkshire: 495 for 8 dec. (Sutcliffe 152, Barber 103).

At Oxford, Gloucestershire drew with Oxford University. Oxford: 397 (Dasaram 176, Mitchell-Innis 107, Parker 5 for 69). Gloucestershire: 227 for 9 dec.

PERRY v. CRAWFORD ONCE AGAIN

Australian Captain
Drops A Set.

BRITISH CUP PLAYERS BEATEN
IN DOUBLES

London, Yesterday.

Fred Perry, holder of the American and Australian titles, will meet Jack Crawford, winner at Wimbledon and Auteuil last year, in the final round of the British Hard Courts Lawn Tennis Championships at Bournemouth to-day.

Perry, the holder, swept through J. V. Kirby, the South African champion, in the semi-final, but Crawford dropped a set to Quist.

Last year Perry frustrated Crawford's attempt to make a clean sweep of the four major tennis titles in the world by beating him in the final of the American Championship. He followed this up by winning the Australian and Victorian titles against Crawford this year. Last year Crawford was eliminated in the Second Round at Bournemouth by Harold Lee, the British Davis Cup player.

Crawford is in another final, as in partnership with McGrath, he proved successful in the doubles against Perry and Lee. It is significant to note that Perry was not paired with Pat Hughes, his Davis Cup partner.

Dorothy Round, who secured the first set from Helen Wills in the course of six years in the Wimbledon final last year, will meet Margaret Scriven, the left-handed holder of the French title, in the Women's final.

Scores as cabled by Reuter were:—

Men's Singles—Semi-Final

F. J. Perry (Britain) beat J. V. Kirby (S. Africa) 7-5, 6-1, 6-3.

J. A. Crawford (Australia) beat A. Quist (Australia) 7-5, 6-4, 3-6, 6-2.

Men's Doubles—Semi-Final

J. A. Crawford and V. M. McGrath (Australia) beat F. J. Perry, and H. G. N. Lee (Britain) 6-1, 4-6, 6-2, 6-3.

Women's Singles—Semi-Final

Dorothy Round (Britain) beat Kathleen Stammers (Britain) 6-1, 6-4.

Margaret Scriven (Britain) beat Betty Nuthall (Britain) 8-6, 6-2.

DATED IN FULL

It was all a little spoiled by my suspense, waiting for news to reach him of my "burglary." Surely the suburban police were not so slack that they'd never find it out at all until the family returned. He'd probably warned them to keep an eye on his house. I expected a cable, or a long-distance telephone call; but the news came by an ordinary letter at last. It was from a trusted servant who had apparently been given a key and told to go to the house once a week and report if anything was wrong there.

I was with Forbes-Graham, as it happened, when he read the letter. "Tchah!" he exclaimed angrily. "No bad news, I hope?" I said. "Quite bad enough! My house has been broken into."

I made appropriate exclamations. "Nothing of value's gone. In fact, nothing's really gone at all. Must have been interrupted or something. Still, I'd better run over and see to things. I'll probably be back again within a week."

"Can I be any good on the journey, sir? I'd gladly come away."

"No, no; stop here," he said, a little brusquely; "very good of you and all that—but I'm quite used to travelling alone."

I asked for nothing better; but

I can tell you the days that followed were a nightmare. How long would it be before he touched the telephone? I didn't want him to get at the arsenic too soon after leaving me. They might make out I'd poisoned him at Murren before he left the place.

Betty had written every day. At last I got a wire from her. "Father suddenly ill. Writing to-morrow."

I wired back sympathetically. Before her letter came I had a second telegram.

"Father feared dying," it said. Then came the last wire:

"Father died this morning." Well, that was that. I felt a curious relief. I was a murderer in case, no longer just in posse, but I had no horror of myself.

It was like reading in the papers of a case that did not concern my fortunes, though it interested me enormously. The English papers, by the way, had long paragraphs, quite non-committal. They made it sound an ordinary illness, and then an ordinary death.

Then came a letter from Betty, which gave a painful description of the symptoms—the nausea and the faintness, the sore eyes and gums, and so on. That, I admit, did make me feel a blackguard.

Then at once came the news that there would be an inquest, that the death was not on the square. Betty, poor girl, wrote urging me to come home and stand by her. After all, she might even be suspected herself, though I don't know if that occurred to her. She was the only gainer by his death, so far as anyone knew. They did not seem to have got wind of me as in the play at all. That being mercifully so, the last thing I wanted was to put in an appearance.

I wrote to her to say I'd twisted my ankle and could not put it to the ground. I felt a skunk; but it was in our joint interests, after all. I worked myself into a fever over there, waiting for the reports of the inquest.

They came fast enough. Poor Betty had been questioned until she nearly dropped. There was no evidence against her—only the obvious motive. The servants, too, had been put through it; but two of them were old retainers, and the rest were young and new and could have had no earthly interest in slaying a master whom they hardly knew by sight.

Well, the verdict was brought in—Murder by Arsenic Poison. No person or persons accused. The general impression was that it was the revenge of some criminal whom the great lawyer had once persuaded a jury to convict.

MOToring NOTES - - -

WHITE TO ATTEMPT NEW AUTO RECORD

Wealthy Philadelphia Sportsman To Seek Speed Marks.

Daytona. A new speed creation, in which an attempt may be made on the local sands in 1935 to break the 272 m.p.h. motor speed record, is being planned by Mr. J. M. White, the wealthy Philadelphia sportsman.

Mr. White came here recently to enlist the aid of the city officials of Daytona Beach in obtaining from the United States government two obsolete aviation motors with which to power the new "Triplex."

Mayor Armstrong said efforts to borrow the needed motors are to be made through Senators Park Trammell and Duncan U. Fletcher. Mr. White hopes to break the 272 m.p.h. mark set up in 1933 during the speed trials by Sir Malcolm Campbell, the English speedster. Sir Malcolm will be invited to come here this summer, possibly in August or September, to try for a new record with a revamped Bluebird. At present, the British world record holder is reported to be planning a trip by aeroplane to South Africa to seek gold, and maybe to look for a suitable motor racing track.

BROOKLANDS RECORD BEATEN

Dixon Lap At 71.15 m.p.h.

London. It is announced that in the "Mountain" races at Brooklands recently F. W. Dixon (Riley), of Middlesbrough, completed a lap at 71.15 m.p.h., thereby breaking the lap record for the course in Class G (1,100 c.c.).

This record was previously held by Whitney Straight, who, last October, put up a speed of 70.07 m.p.h. with a supercharged car. Mr. Dixon's record awaits formal confirmation from the R. A. C.

MOTORISTS' TOURS ABROAD.

Cash Deposit Reduced

London. Another concession has been obtained for motorists wishing to tour abroad.

The A.A. and R.A.C. jointly announce that from yesterday the cash deposit required as part security against the liability for foreign duty on a member's car is reduced from £30 to £20, and for a motor-cycle from £10 to £5.

Still More British Motor Records.

Monthery, Apr. 17. Five world records, were broken in a British Napier-Railton car, which, at 120 miles per hour average, claimed best times for six hours, twelve hours, 1,000 kilometres, 3,000 kilometres, 2,000 miles.

BIG TYRE ERA COMING

Lesson From Monte Carlo Rally.

PROBLEM OF POWER

One of the outstanding features of the recent Monte Carlo Rally was the magnificent performance of a well-known make of British light car, which easily defeated many vehicles of much larger horse-power and much higher price.

Now this car accomplished its arduous distance upon a set of enormously "fat" tyres. So obese are they that, relative to the rest of this modest-sized vehicle, they look utterly out of proportion.

The obvious reasons for using them were their capability of easily digesting road inequalities (and the tyre is far and away the most important factor of the suspension system) and the hold which they afford upon snow-bound, frozen and mud-smothered surfaces.

In America the vogue of the ultra-low-pressure tyre, which is so big that it is commonly called an "air-wheel," has fully established itself. That is one of the principal reasons why upon the other side of the Atlantic so many concerns have wholeheartedly adopted independent front-wheel springing, which, by the way, is essentially a European idea.

By this means the chief objections to the "dough-nut" tyre, such as a tendency to "shimmy," and to heaviness in steering, can be effectively overcome.

Now the manifest drawback to the fat tyre is that—apparently—it will absorb rather a lot of power. This, of course, is a matter of no consequence in the typical trans-Atlantic car, which is normally endowed with about 40 per cent more horse-power than it can legitimately use, owing to its freedom from an arbitrary form of taxation.

But the question is, will the ultra-low-pressure tyre be suitable for the British type of car in which engine power is strictly limited?

NEW FINISH FOR METAL PARTS.

May Substitute Chromium

The possibilities of an alloy known as Tungum, which may provide a substitute for chromium-plated parts, are being investigated by Mr. C. W. Brett, managing director of Barimar, Ltd.

This alloy has a rich gold colour and is so resistant to corrosion that it is not attacked by sea water or sulphuric acid. If its surface were wholly untarnishable it could be unplated for radiator shells, windscreen frames, lamps and so on.

It is already being used for decorative metal work in buildings. Finish strikes an entirely different where the rich effect of the golden note from the ubiquitous chromium.

Of course, I know that the police would be at it behind the scenes, and would soon ferret out our relation, Betty's and mine. There seemed to be nothing to connect me with the poisoning, except, again, the glaringly obvious motive, stronger in my case than in Betty's. I should not breathe freely until a year was over and we were safely married. It would be risky to marry earlier, I felt. Better let suspicion fade and interest in the case, then marry quietly and go for a long cruise.

No sooner had I returned to London than I received a telephone call at my own flat. Could I make it convenient to come round to Scotland Yard? There were just a few questions... a mere matter of form.

An icy sweat broke out all over my body. I felt curiously sick, answered the suave voice as pleasantly as I could; then took a lot of brandy and went off.

An affable inspector greeted me. "Mr. Guy Winterton? Good of you to come so promptly. I have only one short question to ask you."

"Well, I'll answer it as clearly as I can," I said.

"When did you last see this?" The golden lighter lay before me, its miserable jewelled clock still ticking.

My mind worked furiously. It would not do to disclaim the wretched gaud.

"My lighter!" I cried joyously. "I'd given it up for lost. I thought it had been pinched in a tube lift."

"When did you see it last?" The inexorable question came again.

"I'm afraid I can't remember very clearly. It was before I went to Murren for the winter sports. I've just come back to-day."

"Would you mind telling me your birthday, Mr. Winterton?"

"My birthday! The second of January."

"Thank you. Was this a birthday present?" "Yes, it was," I thought denial was no good.

"Would you be surprised to hear that it was found under the hedge of Mr. Forbes-Graham's garden?"

"The hedge! The time—my coat caught. I'd had it with me after all, then. What was I to say? In God's name, what was I to say?"

"Oh, that's where I dropped it! I thought it had been picked out of my own pocket."

"You were given this lighter on your birthday, Mr. Winterton?"

"As a matter of fact I was given it a bit earlier. My friend imagined I'd be gone before my birthday."

The inspector touched a bell. "Who was this portly gentleman with silver hair and pince-nez?"

"Mr. Saxby—Mr. Winterton. We bowed. Will you kindly tell me again, Mr. Saxby, when you last saw this exhibit?"

"On the second of January," said old Saxby, rather sadly, looking straight at me. "Miss Forbes-Graham called for it in the morning. She was very anxious that it should be ready for the birthday it was meant for. I gave it to her, and she took it away."

The inspector turned the lighter on its back. "Good God! There was a tiny inscription that I had never noticed—with a date! Why had I taken the thing so casually from Betty, been so preoccupied? To be hanged for a piece of bad manners was an irony for me, who prided myself upon good ones. Not that my notice could have made much difference in the end. That was how they tracked by presence on the burglary night. The thing told all the stories lying there."

"To Guy on his birthday," it said, "January 2nd, 1933."

It was the only communication I had ever received from Betty that was dated in full.

Discarding A Losing Card On A Loser At Bridge

BY FRANK ENGLAND

As declarer playing a suit declaration one is always anxious to discard all possible losing cards so as to avoid losing more tricks than necessary. Naturally one prefers to do so on a winning card played from the other hand, as this, so to speak, secures "two on a division," the winning card making a trick and a losing card being a trick rid of on the same leap. This is quite common play known to everyone.

What is by no means so common and, indeed, is very rarely resorted to of intent, except by the expert player, is so to scheme the play as to discard a loser on a loser.

Spectacular Play

Of course such a play often happens by accident or by necessity as, for instance, when the opponents are leading out winning cards and both dummy and declarer have to discard losers. But this play is forced on the declarer and cannot benefit him in any way. When, however, he purposely schemes a discard of a loser in order to open a suit for ruffing, the play is neat and in some instances spectacular.

It is a coup which very few declarers plan and carry out of set purpose and, indeed, the opportunity for its use rarely occurs. Here is an example of the play:

NORTH:—

S.—5 4
H.—10 3 2
D.—A 4 3 2
C.—9 8 7 6

SOUTH:—

S.—A 10 9 6 3
H.—A K 4
D.—5
C.—A Q 10 2

Both sides vulnerable. North-South 40. Bidding:—

West North East South
1 Diamond No No 2 Clubs
1 Spade No No 2 Clubs
2 Diamonds 3 Clubs Double.

East's double was free in that North-South were at an advanced score yet even then it was not

SOUTH AFRICA'S RAILWAYS

British Commission's Tour Ends.

CHAIRMAN IMPRESSED

Cape Town.

Sir Guy Granet, chairman of the South African Railway inquiry Commission has left for England at the conclusion of the Commission's work in South Africa.

When interviewed, Sir Guy Granet said that while he could not anticipate the Commission's report, he could say that he had been very favourably impressed by the South African Railways. Asked if the Commission's findings were likely to contain anything of a drastic nature, Sir Guy said: "No, I don't think you will find anything unexpected."

The bulk of the Commission's work had been completed, said Sir Guy, but there still remained some investigations that would have to be carried out in London, and for that purpose Herr Meyer would go to London in May, about which time the report could be expected. There was no question of a minority report.—Reuter.

UNIQUE RESCUE FROM DROWNING.

Angler's Prescience Saves Boy.

East London.

What was probably a unique rescue from drowning was performed by an unknown visitor to East London. The visitor was fishing on the breakwater when an unexpected sea broke over it and swept away a 10-year-old boy who was standing nearby. Without a moment's hesitation the angler cast his 12 cord line at the boy and hooked his clothes. He hauled the boy to the side of the breakwater where other anglers were able to seize him and pull him to safety.

The visitor's presence of mind undoubtedly saved the boy from certain death.—Reuter.

particularly good. However, the play was the point of interest. West opened the King of Spades. East played 7 and South took with Ace and returned a small one. South knew West must have four Spades and East, therefore, only two. West then led King of Diamonds which North won with Ace, and led the 6 of Clubs and took the double finesse through the doubler. The 6 held and was followed by the 7 which South won with the 10.

South's difficulty now was to get again into North's hand, and even if he could Four Clubs, One Spade, Two Hearts and One Diamond would not give him contract. He must, therefore, make a trump in North somehow. But how? East would over-ruff the Spade and return a trump and set the contract.

South decided to lead a small Spade which North headed and discarded a small Heart from North. East too discarded a small Heart, but South could count East's hand and knew that he must have had four Hearts originally. West played Queen of Diamonds ruffed by the declarer and South now led the Ace, King of Hearts and ruffed the third round in North, thus getting the desired extra trick.

The four hands were:—

NORTH:—

S.—5 4
H.—10 3 2
D.—A 4 3 2
C.—9 8 7 6

WEST:—

S.—K Q J 8
H.—x x x
D.—K Q J x x
C.—x

SOUTH:—

S.—A 10 9 6 3
H.—A K 4
D.—5
C.—A Q 10 2

EAST:—

S.—7 2
H.—x x x x
D.—x x x
C.—K J x x

and it will be seen that South, to make contract, must discard a losing Heart to enable North to ruff, and he can only do so on a losing card led from his own hand.

In A Radio Game

A classic example of this coup is the following hand, which occurred in a Radio game in the States:

NORTH:—

S.—4 3
H.—K 10 5 4 3
D.—K Q J
C.—J 4 3

WEST:—

S.—A 8 7 5
H.—A Q 8 7
D.—8
C.—K Q 10 7

SOUTH:—

S.—K Q J 10 9 8 6 2
H.—A 10 7 8
D.—None
C.—8 2

EAST:—

S.—None
H.—J 9 6 2
D.—9 6 5 4 2
C.—A 9 6 5

South dealt and bid Three Spades, which North raised to Four and West doubled with some "gusto." He opened the King of Clubs upon which, East dropped the 9. He then led 8 of Diamonds won in North. South now sensed that the 8 of Diamonds was a singleton and that West had doubled almost certainly on Ace and small Spades, King, Queen of Clubs, Ace of Hearts and his singleton and that East had the Ace of Clubs. How was South to prevent West putting his partner in to return a Diamond to ruff? Very simply.

South led the King of Hearts from North, and on East playing small discarded his remaining Club, thus clearing the Club suit for ruffing and felling West's little scheme completely. By discarding a loser on a loser here South conceded one trick to save losing two more and so landed the doubled contract. Even with all the cards shown I wager there are very few players who would have got there.

REINFORCED ALUMINIUM FOIL LININGS FOR TROPICAL HELMETS

The special heat insulating ALUMINIUM FOIL LINING actually cut down the HEAT EXCHANGE from the HELMET to the HEAD in the TROPICAL SUN by approximately 70 PER CENT. HELMETS fitted with SUCH LININGS tend therefore to keep the wearer's head at a UNIFORM TEMPERATURE under EXTREME conditions of TROPICAL HEAT.

The SCIENTIFIC RESEARCH DEPARTMENT of a BRITISH UNIVERSITY after extensive experiments and tests, have proved beyond doubt, that the LOW HEAT RADIATING PROPERTIES of BRIGHTLY POLISHED ALUMINIUM FOIL may be made use of in HELMETS to PROTECT the WEARER against EXCESSIVE HEAT from TROPICAL SUN.

DERBY HORSES IN BLAZING STABLE.

1,000 Thoroughbreds
Rescued.

Louisville, Kentucky.

Nineteen entrants for to-day's Kentucky Derby were saved from incineration when a fire broke out in the stables at Churchill's Downs, where a long line of buildings housing about 1,000 thoroughbred horses caught on fire.
The flames were seen for miles. Two stables were destroyed, but all the racehorses were saved.

BELMONT PARK BLAZE

Only a fortnight ago Kerry Patch was the only horse saved in a fire which swept a racing stable at the Belmont Park race track.
Kerry Patch as a two-year-old won $30,000 in stake money, including the Futurity Stakes.
McCormick, his trainer, threw a blanket over the horse's head and led him to safety. Seven horses were destroyed.

PARIS TO TOKYO NON-STOP

Famous French Airmen Plan New Flight.

ATTACKING OWN RECORD

Marseilles, Yesterday.
The French airmen, M. Paul Codes and M. Maurice Rossi, holders of the world's non-stop flight record, are soon to make an attempt to beat their own figure of 5,657 miles.
The fliers will take off from Le Bourget aerodrome, Paris, at the end of this month to fly non-stop to Tokyo.

The machine to be used for the flight is the "Joseph Le Brix," in which they established their last record in August, last year, by flying from New York, across the Atlantic to Rayak, in Syria. The time taken on that occasion was 54 hours, 44 minutes.
The plane, a Blériot long-range monoplane, is engaged with a Hispano-Suiza motor. — Reuter.

Last year Padgham represented Britain in the Ryder Cup over the same course, but was beaten by Gene Sarazen by 6 and 4, and in the foursomes, partnered by Alfred Perry, lost to E. Dudley and W. Burke by one hole. He reached the final of the Leeds tournament, but was beaten by another young southerner in A. J. Lacey after a hard fought match. This was his second major success as he won the Irish Open in 1932.

Henry Cotton was omitted from the British Ryder Cup team last year because he had taken a coaching position in Belgium, and on this account he declined the invitation to play for England against Scotland. He came near to winning the "Open," but faltered in the last round. Cotton won the "News of the World" £1040 Tournament in 1932.

FOREIGNERS EVACUATED FROM YEMEN

Reports Of Iman's Death Untrue.

REVOLUTION THREATENS

Cairo, Yesterday.

According to reports from Hodeida, the rumour of the death of the Imam or Yemen is incorrect. It is stated that the Imam has announced his intention of leading his forces personally to defend the capital, Sanaa, and made a moving speech before the Extraordinary War Council at Sanaa.

On the other hand, there are reports of mutinies among the Yemenite troops, especially at Nejran and Hodeida, where the Yemenite resistance to the forces of King Ibn Saud of the Hejaz are said to have collapsed.
A revolution is reported to have broken out at Sanaa and to have spread to other towns.

Ibn Saud's forces are said to have occupied Hodeida, from where His Majesty's sloop, "Penzance," transferred 300 foreigners to the island of Kamaran. — Reuter.
